Explanation of Salary Payments

- Broward computes your bi-weekly paychecks using an All Days Paid computation. This means that all days in your work calendar (except Saturdays and Sundays) are counted. For example, a teacher on a 196-day calendar has 217 days paid.
 - 206 calendar = 227 all days paid
 - 216 calendar = 237 all days paid
 - 241 calendar = 261 all days paid
- This computation is used so each of your paychecks are an equal amount with a possible exception to your first and last check, depending on your start date.
- This allows you to receive equal payments throughout the school year, regardless of holidays (i.e., spring/winter break).
- An instructional employee's work calendar includes 6 paid holidays (schools closed) and 10 Employee Planning Days (no students).

Standards-Based Instruction
6. How many students could identify what content was critical in this lesson? How do you know?

7. For the elements you implemented in this lesson, what percent of students demonstrated the desired effect? How do you know? (What, if any, adaptations did you make to achieve these results? Observe and teacher examine student evidence)

Conditions for Learning
8. In what ways did students use formative assessment data to track their progress? How did students demonstrate sustained motivation for learning based on your feedback?
