opportunities for all young people to develop confidence, creativity, and interest in STEM career fields. The success of this project will be measured through participation in the learning community by the 30 schools throughout the year and the participation of students in Code Clubs, workshops, and a culminating end of the year CodeFest. The CodeFest will celebrate the success of the project by having students showcase what they accomplished during the 2018/19 school year. GAGP staff worked closely with the STEM team in the Applied Learning Department to establish the relationship with the donor and to develop and submit the proposal.

Special thanks to the Broward Education Foundation for application partnership and Sheri Brown at the Community Foundation of Broward for the referral.

BCPS Receives Three Grants to Support School Safety Under the STOP School Violence Act

BCPS is proud to receive three recent grant awards from the U.S. Department of Justice. The combined total of the three grants is more than $1.3 million to support school-safety related programs across BCPS. Tip for the Day

TIP for the Day: School Grant Application Tips

The following tips are for educators about to embark on the school grant application process for the first time. Retrieved from fundraiserhelp.com/school-grant-application-tips.

- Have a clear plan for your project. Know what you want to accomplish and the steps you will take to do it.
- If you can find grants that others have submitted, read them and get a feel for the writing. (Don't copy any grant proposal!)
- Find out in advance what kinds of projects the granter will and will not fund.
- Try to have a "hook" — something different that will make your grant stand out from the many submissions. Including a story or a picture is a great way to engage your reader.
- Include statistics. Prove your points. Don't just say students can't read. Give facts to back up your claims.
- Make sure your goals are measurable and realistic. You can't realistically say 100 percent of students will read above grade level at the completion of the project.
- Do not make your grant tech heavy. Everyone wants equipment. Make the equipment a byproduct of the project: 'it just so happens' that a few handheld computers are needed to improve students' ability to meet the desired goal. Student or staff achievement should be the focus of your proposal.
- Be sure to include the necessary staff development to make the project a success. Too many people skimp on that area.
- Make sure the timeline of the grant matches the grantor's funding cycle. If that's unknown, it's better to use 'phase 1' and 'phase 2' or 'month' 1, 2, 3, etc. than specific dates.
- Don't give up because you're rejected. It takes time and dedication to get projects funded.
- If you are rejected, submit the same project to different groups, companies, and organizations. Just be sure to make improvements and change the format, if necessary, to meet the new criteria.

A heartfelt thanks to each and every public and private donor for your continued support of Broward County Public Schools through your generous grant awards. I would also like to thank my amazing grants team for the last five years of dedicated service to make the vision of developing a more diversified grant portfolio a reality. Your diligent efforts to support many facets of the District's grant seeking efforts in partnership with thousands of committed school-based and District subject matter experts has resulted in significant additional resources for programs to support our students, teachers, and families. I am truly grateful to be a part of this journey with this 'small but mighty' team. Happy Holidays to all!
