For today's science word, you will hear the word and try to guess the definition. The word is solute. (wait 5 seconds) Did you guess? It is a substance that is being dissolved by another substance.

Our black history month focus for today will be on HBCUs. Historically Black Colleges and Universities are institutions of higher education in the United States. The first HBCUs were founded in Pennsylvania and Ohio before the American Civil War. Their purpose was to provide black youths with a basic education and training to become teachers or to learn a trade. At the time, racial discrimination was widespread. The term was created by the Higher Education Act of 1965, which expanded federal funding for colleges and universities. Let's take a look at Howard University's 2019 Acceptance Day.
