Community Emergency Response Team

Cooper City High School has become part of a national network of schools with a TEEN CERT Program. The TEEN CERT program educates students about disaster preparedness for hazards that may impact their area and trains them in basic disaster response skills, such as fire safety, light search and rescue, and disaster medical operations.

There is a very good chance that our schools and communities will be on their own for weeks or more following a major Hurricane or Disaster. Using the hands-on training learned in this course, TEEN CERT members will be prepared to help themselves, their families and their school during a major disaster when professional responders are delayed or not readily available to help. TEEN CERT empowers students with life-long emergency preparedness and response skills.
